MUCH UNCERTAINTY MANIFESTED IN THE OUTCOME OF PRIMARIES

Practically Only Certainty Is in the Congressional Nomination---Warm Contest in District for Senator.

ASSEMBLY FIGHT IS WARM

Entire Dozen Candidates Are Hustling for All They Are Worth to Gain Recognition of Voters in the County.

With the primary election only three days off, and the various candidates making their final roundup of voters, the political situation is decidely interesting just now. As a matter of fact all the contests are for the Republican nominations, and the other parties have been lost sight of in the campaign. At this stage claims and counter claims are being made, and positive assertions are freely heard as to the result of Saturday's vote. The issue, however, was never more uncertain particularly in the matter of the Legislative and Senatorial nominations.

So far as Congress is concerned, it is universally conceded that Congressman J. K. Tener will be an easy winner for the renomination. No opposition has developed of any consequence in Washintgon county, and in both Beaver and Lawrence counties there is every indicaton that his majorities will be largely increased in proportion to the vote cast. It seems to be the prevailing sentiment that not nearly so large a vote will be polled as at the primaries two years ago, when there were hot contests in each of the counties in addition to the ones for Congress and the Assembly. Mr. Tener's friends are all confident of the outcome, and are satisfied that his renomintion is only a question of majority.

In the contest for State Senator the two candidates for the Republican nomination are doing some tall hustling, and the friends of each are making confident claims. The issue still remains to be settled at the polls. It is in the Assembly fight, however, that the greatest interest centers. With twelve candidates in the field there never was a more uncertain issue. While vehement charges have been made that certain elements were putting up slates, and that certain candiadtes were slated in certain quarters, the fact still remains that it is the voters that decide the issue, and until the ballots are cast it is a fair field for all of the candidates. Each has his following and friends; some have received endorsements from different quarters, but with the vote split up as it is sure to be, none can confidently predict victory. Each one realizes that his own immediate following is not sufficient to nominate, and all will depend on how much he can get from the unattached vote. This is the element that each one is hustling to round up, and to use the well-worn expression the election is pretty sure to "develop some surprises."

Eight Wearies, Bearing Odor, Like Tannery, Are Banished

Necessary To Disinfect the Lockup After They Had Been Driven, Like Cattle, From the City.

Charleroi got rid of eight contaminated tramps this morning, when Chief of Police Albright and Health Officer Darby drove the fellows who had been arrested yesterday morning from the town. The bunch contained one who had a bad disease, which had caused his flesh to rot in some places. Others had burns on their arms and bodies. The octet had been kept in the lockup all night, and were the only human occupants. A dog had been placed in the burgess' reformatory, but it was removed to a far end of the place.

The men when taken out were allowed to get a plentiful distance in front of the Chief and Health Officer Darby, and like a drove of cattle they were expelled from the borough going south. The lockup which retained an odor like a tannery, was later disinfected.

POPULAR COUPLE MARRIED TODAY

Powell-Bateman Nuptials Performed at Duquesne This Morning

This morning a 9:30 o'clock, at the home of the bride's mother in Duquesne, occurred the marriage of Miss Elsie Powell, of Duquesne and Charles Bateman of Charleroi. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Stevenson of the Burgettstown Presbyterian church in the presence of only the immediate families.

After the wedding the couple left for Cambridge Springs, where they will spend a week or ten days and upon their return to take up their residence in a house already furnished on Fifth street, Charleroi.

Mr. Bateman is the bookkeeper of the First National bank, and one of the best known young men of Charleroi. Miss Powell is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Powell and has a large acquaintanceship in her home town. She is also well known in Charleroi.

PIONEER RESIDENT OF CHARLEROI RETURNS AND ENTERS BUSINESS

George L. Michener, who was a pioneer meat dealer and resident of Charleroi, but who removed from this city eight years ago, has returned and purchased the meat market on Fallowfield avenue of George Dunlap. Mr. Michener assumed charge this morning. He came here from Swissvale, where he has been located for some time. Mr. Michener came to Charleroi when the town was in its infancy and established a meat market on Fallowfield avenue in the building now occupied by M. Melsher with a tailor shop. Later he disposed of his business and moved away.

Uncle Sam's Strong Arm.

Those persons who are contirually knocking on the Government and asserting that Congress is responsible for the high prices that prevail will do well to take cognizance of the recent action of the Department of Justice in restraining twenty-five railroads of the west from advancing freight rates. By means of a temporary injunction the roads are restrained until proceedings can be entered by the United States Attorney General under the Sherman Anti-Trust law on the grounds of conspiracy in restraint of trade.

But for the existence of this law and the determination of the Government to enforce it, all the advances in wages to working people and employes generally would be worse than useless. A stiff advance in freight rates alone would have multipiled the cost of living several times more than the advance in wages. For instance: Had the advance in freight rates gone into effect, the railroad employe, who had his wages advaced five per cent, would have had to pay an advance of from ten to sixteen per cent in freight rates on all he and his family consumes. He would have had to pay this advance at least three times—first, on the cost of transporting the raw material of products to the manufacturer; second, increased cost of transortation to the jobber, and third, from the jobber to the retailer. Thus, while the railroader gets one advance on what is coming in, he would pay three advances on what is going out.

This is what the Government is doing to protect the people from arbitrary advances in the cost of living. It is doing all that can be done to prevent excessive charges, and no party or set of Legislators can do differently under the present Constitution.

A Fair Field

Never were the merits of the uniform primary law better demonstrated than at this particular time. The campaign now in progress has demonstrated that slate making is utterly futile. While slates without number may be attempted, the fact remains that none of them are certain of success, and that one as well as another, stands an equal chance of being broken. With this condition always confronting them, politicians cannot induce voters to believe that certain slates are a dead sure winner for the reason that voters cannot be controlled, and consequently one candidate who hustles has approximately as good a chance as another.

In the contest for the Republican nominations for Assembly there is a fair field for any and all of the candidates, with chances of success for any one who puts forth the proper exertion. Each has his friends and following, and these will be a determining factor in the final outcome. No one candidate has sufficient following to elect him without the help of the unattached vote, and the one who can present his claims in the best light to this element is a winner. The field is open, and it is the qualifications and energy of the winners that will bring them under the wire.

Bad Weather.

The continued cool weather has had a serious effect upon trade as well as crops and farming. With the temperature hovering in the vicinity of the freezing point, people are not thinking of summer wearing apparel, much less making purchases. In some lines of merchandise this will no doubt make a short season, but others will be lengthened as a consqeuencce. Those who wear out their winter clothes at the beginning of summer will have to purchase all the earlier in the fall, so that by the end of the year the evening up process will make amends for the omissions of the first of the season.

This is all the more reason for a well concentrated and persistent effort on the part of the business people here to make the most of their opportunities and take every advantage offered. A continued steady trade is much better than sporadic big days, with little or no business intervening. There is always an element of the purchasing public ready to buy at all times if approached in the right manner at the psychological moment. This is the condition that should be studied and gone after. The merchant who fights for trade in season and out of season and between pay days, is the one who wins.

VOTE FOR ANDERSON
For State Senate

What Sheriff Bruff Says in Commending to Your Attention the Services of Comrade Anderson.

Gentlemen and Comrades: We have invited your fair county tonight, not for the purpose of dictating to you whom you shall vote for, or state senator in this district, but to ask your respectful consideration of the claims and qulifications of our old friend and comrade of Phillippine fighting days when he in common with many others, fought, bled and swam for our country. Some of the boys didn't come back, some came back in their coffins and many returned to die from illness and disease contracted in the Philippine marches and jungles.

"I do not wish to make a spread-eagle speech, for should I attempt one would fail, but it is well to remember in time of peace, the services of those who have offered themselves as targets for the enemy's bullets in time of war.

"The voters have never failed to show their preference for a soldier over a politician. Take our presidents for example. After the Civil war we had Grant, Hayes, Garfield and Harrison. They were not politicians but they made good presidents. Their honor and integrity stands out today undisputed by any.

"Occasionally we find the soldier and politician combined in one. Take Roosevelt for example. He was a great soldier and who shall say that he is not the greatest politician of the age.

"The soldier boys ought to be able to beat the politicians at their own game. The first lesson they learn after "Hayot," "Strawfoot" is to act in unison. What would be the outcome of a battle if every soldier went in on his own hook and fought according to his own notion of how things ought to be done. Inglorious and decisive defeat would be the portion of such a ridiculous army. Just so in the political game. Unity of action wins. Look at the Grand Army. To a man they stood back of Grant, Hayes Garfield and Harrison. Look at the case of Roosevelt. The politicians tried their best to sidetrack him and what was the result? He became the most powerful man politically that the country has ever known.

"With these examples before us and other lesser ones all around us let us get together and show the "organization" that politics is a game that they have no mortgage on.

"In Allegheny county a year ago I was a candidate for sheriff. The "organization" laughed at my humble claims and proceeded to slate an old office holder who had served them well. What the soldier boys did to that outfit is a matter of history. They charged the selfish combine front and flank and sent them scooting for the tall timbers.

"They are back in the game again today but they are mighty careful to say nothing derogatory of the soldier because they have discovered that the people will not stand for it I wish gratefully to remember the services of the veterans in that glorious campaign of Civil war days. They showed that they still know how to rally around the flag with that same courage as in the old days when they charged into certain death at such places as Cold Harbor and Fredericksburg.

"In commending to your attention the services of Comrade Anderson, I am not unmindful of the fact that a state senator should possess ability and integrity as well as courage. Having known Comrade Anderson and having been familiar with his career in the Philrppines and at home, I do not hesitate to say that he is an ideal man for the place. He is a man of progessive ideas, and will, if nominated and elected, serve his constituents as well at Harrisburg as he did for $15 60 a month in the the Philippines. Having been a soldier and faithful citizen, it seems to me, is sufficient guarantee that he will make a good senator.

"All the other surrounding counties which have been represented in the Philippines have accorded too the survivors political recognition. In Beaver county, four of the county offices, namely, Register, Recorder, Prothonotary and clerk of courts have been held by the members of the home company. In Greensburg, the two last district attorneys have been taken from the 10th Regiment and today, I have the honor to represent the old regiment as an official of Allegheny county. I see no reason why the two companies from Washington county with so many available and able men, should not be accorded political recognition as well as the other counties.

EARTHQUAKES OF OLD

Strange Ideas of the Ancients as to Their Causes.

WARNING SIGNS OF SHOCKS.

Pliny Says They Were Shown In the Air, Clouds and Water and by Animals—The Two Mountains That Crashed Together and Then Receded.

If we search history to find to what causes the ancients attributed earthquakes we find that the Babylonians believed that all occurrences of the kind were due to the influence of the stars, especially of the three to whi they ascribed thunder—namely, Saturn, Jupiter and Mars. The seers of the day believed that these disturbances were caused by the stars moving with the sun or being in conjunction with it, more particularly when the stars were in the quartile aspect.

Pliny chronicles the report concerning one Anaximander, a Milesian, who warned the Lacedaemonians to beware of their city and houses. And legend has it that the city was soon afterward destroyed.

Pliny, who wrote his natural history in A. D. 77, conceived that earthquakes were caused by the winds, as "the earth never trembles except when the sea is quite calm and when the heavens are so tranquil that the birds cannot maintain their flight, all the air which should support them being withdrawn. Nor does it ever happen until after great winds, the gust being pent up, as it were, in the fissures and concealed hollows."

Many scientists have observed that all great convulsions of nature are likely to be preceded by calms; also that birds and animals generally exhibit certain presentiments of the event, facts which the wise men of ancient days noted and accounted for in their different ways.

Pliny says: "When an earthquake occurs there is often sound without any motion. When there is motion it is tremulous and vibratory. The clefts of the earth sometimes remain, displaying what has been swallowed up, sometimes concealing it, the mouth being closed and the soil brought over it, the city being, as it were, engulfed devoured. Maritime districts are more especially subject to shocks. Nor are mountainous districts exempt. I have found the Alps and the Apennines frequently shaken by them. The shocks happen more frequently in the autumn and the spring. They also happen more frequently in the night than in the day. The greatest shocks are in the morning and the evening, but they often take place at daybreak. They also take place during eclipses of the moon, because at that time storms are lulled. They are most frequent when great heat succeeds to showers or showers succeed to great heat."

Pliny further says: "There is no doubt that earthquakes are felt by persons on shipboard. There are many signs for the mariner beforehand, however. The timbers of the vessel creak. The birds that settle on the vessel are not without their alarms. There is also a sign in the heavens, for when a shock is near at hand, either in the daytime or a little after sunset, a cloud is stretched out in the clear sky like a long, thin line. The water in wells is more turbid than usual, and it emits a disagreeable odor."

In describing the various kinds of shocks and expanding on his investigations on the subject Pliny remarks that "arched buildings are the safest; also the angles of walls and walls made of bricks suffer least. The earth movement that resembles the rolling of waves is the most dangerous, or when the motion is impelled in one direction. The tremors cease when the vapors have burst forth, but if there be no escape of vapor of any kind then the tremors may continue for forty days. They have been known to continue for two years."

The historian records the greatest "prodigy of the earth" as having occurred in the district of Mutina during the consulship of Lucius Martius and Sextus Julius, when "two mountains rushed together, falling upon each other with a very loud crash and then receding, while in the daytime smoke and vapor issued from them." Pliny says the wonder was witnessed by "a great crowd of Roman knights and travelers along the Aemilian way."

The same writer says: "The greatest earthquake which occurred in our memory was in the reign of Tiberius, by which twelve cities of Asia were laid prostrate in one night. During the Punic war we had accounts of fifty-seven earthquakes in one year. Nor is it an evil merely consisting in the danger which is produced by the motion; it is an equal or greater evil when it is considered as a prodigy. The city of Rome never experienced a shock that was not the forerunner of some great calamity."

Pliny, of course, takes a good many of his accounts from Aristotle, but his references to events are confirmed by other writers. Herodotus describes a great disturbance in his day, when "the sea came beyond Memphis, as far as the mountains of Ethiopia, and also from the plains of Arabia. The sea also surrounded Ilium and the whole of Teuthrania and covered the plain through which the Meander flows." Pliny makes actual mention of one of the Aeolian islands having "emerged from the sea." It was a matter of common belief among the scientists of Pliny's day that Sicily was torn from Italy by such a disturbance.—New York World.

TUNING A PIANO.

A Professional's Experience With Irritable Von Bulow.

"Piano tuners are for the most part graduated from piano factories," says one of them. "While the piano tuner is required to know every part in the makeup of a piano, he is not necessarily a piano repairer. Nor can the average piano maker or repairer tune a piano. There are hundreds of expert makers and repairers of pianos who wouldn't be able to tell one tune from another.

"The piano tuner is born, not made. His acute sense of the vibrations of sound is given to him at his birth, and the man who hasn't got this sense can't become a piano tuner.

"Quite a number of years ago, when Hans von Bulow was in America, I tuned the piano upon which he played. He wouldn't allow the instrument to be tuned in the wareroom, one of his whims being that even a short removal of a piano knocks it all out of tune—something in that theory at that. So I tuned it upon the platform upon which he was to perform. He stood over me all the time, letting out agonized whoops and German cuss words until I couldn't help but laugh in his face.

"Finally, when I had the piano almost tuned, he gave a few more shrieks and, grabbing the wrench, began doing the job all over again. I let him go ahead, and inside of three minutes he had the piano so hopelessly out of tune that it took me three hours to get it into shape again. Herr von Bulow had to pay double for this little exhibition of temper."—Spokane Sportsman Review.

On the Cars of New York.

The surface cars of New York carry on each line as different a nationality as if each belonged to a different country. On the Eighth avenue line there are mostly colored people; on the Sixth avenue they are largely Americans, if there are any Americans in New York; on the Broadway cars there are stylishly dressed New Yorkers; on the Third avenue Irish and Jewish people predominate, on the Second avenue Jewish, Italian, Hungarian, Swedish and German, while on the surface cars that run along Avenue A you see every foreign nationality under the sun, all bareheaded.—New York Press.

Vain Regrets.

"That man Biffin lacks courage and energy."

"Yes, confound him!"

"Why do you say that?"

"Because he was courting my wife long before I met her. If he had had a little more courage and energy— But what's the use of talking about it now?"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

His Passport.

On one occasion Gustave Dore, the artist, lost his passport while on a tour in Switzerland. At Lucerne he asked to be allowed to speak to the mayor to whom he gave his name.

"You say that you are M. Gustave Dore, and I believe you," said the mayor, "but," and he produced a piece of paper and a pencil, "you can easily prove it."

Dore looked around him and saw some peasants selling potatoes in the street. With a few clever touches he reproduced the homely scene and, appending his name to the sketch, presented it to the mayor.

"Your passport is all right," remarked the official, "but you must allow me to keep it and to offer you in return one of the ordinary form."

A Realistic Actor.

Malcolm was three years old. He stood stock still in the middle of the floor, one arm extended horizontally. His mother, looking up from her sewing, saw the door open.

"Shut the door, Malcolm, please," she said.

No response. She repeated her request. Still no response.

"Malcolm," she said more sternly, "I asked you to shut the door."

Still Malcolm stood in the middle of the floor with his arm outstretched and did not move.

"Malcolm," said his mother, "if you don't shut the door at once I shall have to punish you."

Malcolm burst into tears and flung himself on his mother's knees. "Muvver," he cried, "I was doin' a wooden sign, an' wooden signs can't shut doors!"—Woman's Home Companion.

To Do Good.

You've got to live a Christian life if you expect to do any good. All the preaching in the world won't save a soul if you don't live the life, and if you do you don't need any preaching.—Billy Sunday, Evangelist, Chicago.

Man's Moral Destiny.

More and more the conviction grows that to teach men how to fulfill their moral destiny here is to fit them to fulfill it hereafter and that to do this is to bring down the New Jerusalem from heaven to earth.—Rev. Caleb S. S. Dutton, Unitarian, Brooklyn.

Need of Enthusiasm.

A need in the armament of man in the battle is enthusiasm. It is not only necessary to believe, but one must have the inspiration. Men do not gain fame by chance, but men do gain it by boundless enthusiasm.—Rev D. G. Downey, Methodist, Chicago

Saving Cuff Addresses.

Folded up with the laundry bill was another slip of paper, on which were several lines of fine writing.

"What is this?" asked the new customer.

"Those are the addresses we copied off your cuffs," said the clerk. "We alway. make a record of the addresses we find on cuffs and return them with the laundry, so if our customers have not put them down any place else they won't be lost."—New York Press.

What Kennedy Would Be For In Congress

Platform and Principles of the Anti-Machine Candidate Show He Would be Free to Act For the People---Not Tied to the Bosses.

Lower Cost of Living

Mr. Voter:—

When you pick your candidate for congress at the primaries on Saturday you want to know what the man you cast your ballot for will do for you if nominated and elected.

You want to know if he will serve you or if he will be a tool of the bosses and special interests.

T. L. Kennedy is the candidate of the PEOPLE.

His platform and public utterances PROVE this.

In his platform he says:

ROOSEVELT POLICIES

"As an ardent admirer of Theodore Roosevelt, and a firm believer in the policies which he stood for, I shall earnestly advocate all measures which are for the welfare of the people."

AGAINST CANNONISM

"Aldrichism and Cannonism represent the selfish interests which stand upon special privileges as against the general welfare of the whole people."

ANTI-PENROSE

"The duties of a member of Congress are National, but in Pennsylvania the office has been made an asset of the State machine. The candidates for Congress throughout the State are as carefully selected as the candidates for the Legislature, the idea being that the patronage of a Congressman belongs absolutely to the Penrose-Oliver machine. A Congressman, so elected, being under such obligations to the machine, is not free to act for the public good."

AGAINST BRIBERY

"The lavish use of money in politics has become deplorable. The present member of Congress, admitted that he had expended about $14,000. It has been freely stated and not contradicted that the selfish interests, inside and outside the district, contributed an additional sum of $50,000, and that at least 3,000 illegal votes were cast."

HIGH COST OF LIVING

Although not incorporated in his platform as at first issued, Mr. Kennedy has added a postcript on the most vital issue of she day to the workingmen and members of the great middle class. He says:

"The cost of living has so increased within the last few years that it is now the burning question of the hour."

Remedy Lies With Congress

"Stop speculation in the necessities of life by making it a penal offense punishable by fine and imprisonment, as is the case in France to-day, and allow the cost to be regulated solely by the law of supply and demand, and the producer will receive his full value for that which he raises, and the consumer will be required to pay only a reasonable price for that which he consumes."

A GOOD WAY TO USE HYOMEI

Besides breathing through the inhaler a few times a day many catarrh sufferers write that they find inhaling Hyomei from a bowl of steaming water each night before retiring a great aid in curing stubborn cases.

Try it; it's very simple; gives quick relief and makes you breathe easier.

Fill a bowl half full of boiling water; pour into the water a half teaspoonful of Hyomei, cover head and bowl with a towel and breathe through nose and mouth the medicated antiseptic and healing vapor that arises.

This method relieves that stuffiness at once and makes your head feel clear.

You can get a bottle of Hyomei at druggists everywhere or at Piper Bros. for only 50 cents. Ask for extra bottle Hyomei Inhalent.

But bear in mind if you want a Hyomei inhaler you must buy a complete outfit which only costs $1.00. But as stated before; if you already own an inhaler a bottle of Hyomei costs but 50 cents.

Hoymei is guaranteed by druggists everwhere and by Piper Bros. to cure catarrh, sore throat, coughs, colds, rose fever, asthma and croup, or money back. Try it on that generous basis.

Wanted Her.

"An old couple from the east," says the Detroit Free Press, "are visiting their son in this city. If the mother gets out of sight of the father, he is constantly asking for her and is not content till they are together again. The other evening she went to another part of the house while he was in the parlor and after he had asked for her a half dozen times the son said, rather curtly:

"'It seems as though you couldn't be without mother five minutes at a time.'

"'You're right,' said the old gentleman slowly, [illegible] I married her.'"

"Every [illegible] day," cried the discouraged hostess, "I vow I'll never give another tea! I've decided this time. No more for me. It's the red cheeked men I don't mind their taking up the rugs and dancing until after midnight and getting dispossess notices served on me the next morning, or leaving cigarette ashes all over the place for me to clean up, or scattering the Welsh rabbit from one end of the flat to the other, but when the red cheeked man sits on my piano keys when he gives an imitation of something or somebody and I have to pay $4 to have my piano tuned the next day that'll be about all."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Origin of Mothers' Day.

"Mothers' day," originated by Miss Anna Jarvis of Philadelphia, will be observed this year, as it was last. On the second Sunday in May every one is asked to wear a white carnation in honor of his or her mother or her memory. It is suggested, too, that all who can should do some kindly act upon that day.

Boston has already celebrated one mothers' day in a special service on Thursday, Feb. 18, at Tremont temple. Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman presided

Strenuous Methods.

"Got a good scheme."

"What?"

"Gave my fiancee a phonograph."

"For heaven's sake, why?"

"None of the other fellows will call on her now."—Cleveland Leader.

Financial Discernment.

"You say he displays great judgment about the stock market."

"Yes," answered Mr. Dustin Stax. "So much judgment that he never tries to play it."—Washington Star.

His Prayer.

A good old deacon in Connecticut was very pious and very fond of clams. When once upon a time he attended a Rhode Island clambake he overtaxed his capacity and was sorely distressed. But his faith in prayer was unabated. Leaving the party and going down on his knees behind a tree, he was heard to supplicate: "Forgive me, O Lord, this great sin of gluttony. Restore my health and I will never eat any more clams." Then after a judicious pause. "Very few, if any. Amen."

Badly Expressed.

"The human monstrosity!" said a young lady attending a fair with her sweetheart. "Threepence! Wouldn't you like to have a look at that, Herbert?"

"No, dear," answered Herbert, anxious to bestow a neat compliment; "I am quite content to look at you."—London Mail

THE CHARLEROI MAIL

Entered second class mail at Charleroi, Pa., 1900, according to Act of Congress of March 6 1879

VOL. X. NO. 242. CHARLEROI, WASHINGTON CO., PA., WEDNESDAY, JUNE 1, 1910. One Cent

MUCH UNCERTAINTY MANIFESTED IN THE OUTCOME OF PRIMARIES

Practically Only Certainty Is in the Congressional Nomination---Warm Contest in District for Senator.

ASSEMBLY FIGHT IS WARM

Entire Dozen Candidates Are Hustling for All They Are Worth to Gain Recognition of Voters in the County.

With the primary election only three days off, and the various candidates making their final roundup of voters, the political situation is decidely interesting just now. As a matter of fact all the contests are for the Republican nominations, and the other parties have been lost sight of in the campaign. At this stage claims and counter claims are being made, and positive assertions are freely heard as to the result of Saturday's vote. The issue, however, was never more uncertain particularly in the matter of the Legislative and Senatorial nominations.

So far as Congress is concerned, it is universally conceded that Congressman J. K. Tener will be an easy winner for the renomination. No opposition has developed of any consequence in Washintgon county, and in both Beaver and Lawrence counties there is every indicaton that his majorities will be largely increased in proportion to the vote cast. It seems to be the prevailing sentiment that not nearly so large a vote will be polled as at the primaries two years ago, when there were hot contests in each of the counties in addition to the ones for Congress and the Assembly. Mr. Tener's friends are all confident of the outcome, and are satisfied that his renomintion is only a question of majority.

In the contest for State Senator the two candidates for the Republican nomination are doing some tall hustling, and the friends of each are making confident claims. The issue still remains to be settled at the polls. It is in the Assembly fight, however, that the greatest interest centers. With twelve candidates in the field there never was a more uncertain issue. While vehement charges have been made that certain elements were putting up slates, and that certain candiadtes were slated in certain quarters, the fact still remains that it is the voters that decide the issue, and until the ballots are cast it is a fair field for all of the candidates. Each has his following and friends; some have received endorsements from different quarters, but with the vote split up as it is sure to be, none can confidently predict victory. Each one realizes that his own immediate following is not sufficient to nominate, and all will depend on how much he can get from the unattached vote. This is the element that each one is hustling to round up, and to use the well-worn expression the election is pretty sure to "develop some surprises."

Eight Wearies, Bearing Odor Like Tannery, Are Banished

Necessary To Disinfect the Lockup After They Had Been Driven, Like Cattle, From the City.

Charleroi got rid of eight contaminated tramps this morning, when Chief of Police Albright and Health Officer Darby drove the fellows who had been arrested yesterday morning from the town. The bunch contained one who had a bad disease, which had caused his flesh to rot in some places. Others had burns on their arms and bodies. The octet had been kept in the lockup all night, and were the only human occupants. A dog had been placed in the burgess' reformatory, but it was removed to a far end of the place.

The men when taken out were allowed to get a plentiful distance in front of the Chief and Health Officer Darby, and like a drove of cattle they were expelled from the borough going south. The lockup which retained an odor like a tannery, was later disinfected.

POPULAR COUPLE MARRIED TODAY

Powell-Bateman Nuptials Performed at Duquesne This Morning

This morning a 9:30 o'clock, at the home of the bride's mother in Duquesne, occurred the marriage of Miss Elsie Powell, of Duquesne and Charles Bateman of Charleroi. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Stevenson of the Burgettstown Presbyterian church in the presence of only the immediate families.

After the wedding the couple left for Cambridge Springs, where they will spend a week or ten days and upon their return to take up their residence in a house already furnished on Fifth street, Charleroi.

Mr. Bateman is the bookkeeper of the First National bank, and one of the best known young men of Charleroi. Miss Powell is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Powell and has a large acquaintanceship in her home town. She is also well known in Charleroi.

PIONEER RESIDENT OF CHARLEROI RETURNS AND ENTERS BUSINESS

George L. Michener, who was a pioneer meat dealer and resident of Charleroi, but who removed from this city eight years ago, has returned and purchased the meat market on Fallowfield avenue of George Dunlap. Mr. Michener assumed charge this morning. He came here from Swissvale, where he has been located for some time. Mr. Michener came to Charleroi when the town was in its infancy and established a meat market on Fallowfield avenue in the building now occupied by M. Melsher with a tailor shop. Later he disposed of his business and moved away.

Engagement Over 50 Cents.

Two foreigners were arrested last night on Fallowfield avenue for quarreling over 50 cents. They will have a hearing later.

Miss Emma B. Haire and her cousin William Barcus, grandchildren of Mrs. Sarah Stevens of Crest avenue, left on Tuesday evening for Alexandria, Indiana, to visit relatives.

CANDIDATES HEARD AT MEEETING HERE

Several Aspirants at Political Session Present Their Views.

A meeting of political workers was held in Charleroi at the P. H. C. Hall last night in the interest of the candidacy of William Feeney for Assembly. The meeting was presided over by Willaim Clark Black of Washington, after John Sullivan of Charleroi had called it to order. Twelve speakers were called upon and the following were heard: T. J. Montgomery, candidate for assembly from Greene; William Feeney, Attorney Rufus S. Marrner of Washington, candidate for Assembly; Joseph Michael of Charleroi, a flint glass worker; Thos. Mitchell of Washington, organizer of American Federation of Labor; Coroner James Heffran of Speers; Oscar Companion of Charleroi, a flint glassworker; John H. Bowers of Charleroi; Frank Gainer of Roscoe, a miner; Chauncey Collins of Charleroi, district organizer for the American Federation of Labor; Samuel Pardoe of Charleroi, a miner; Adrian Eldridge of Monongahela, Socialist candidate for Assembly.

A fairly good crowd was present, consisting of members of various parties. At the close of the meeting William Feeney was endorsed for Assembly.

Uncle Sam's Strong Arm.

Those persons who are continually knocking on the Government and asserting that Congress is responsible for the high prices that prevail will do well to take cognizance of the recent action of the Department of Justice in restraining twenty-five railroads of the west from advancing freight rates. By means of a temporary injunction the roads are restrained until proceedings can be entered by the United States Attorney General under the Sherman Anti-Trust law on the grounds of conspiracy in restraint of trade.

But for the existence of this law and the determination of the Government to enforce it, all the advances in wages to working people and employes generally would be worse than useless. A stiff advance in freight rates alone would have multipiled the cost of living several times more than the advance in wages. For instance. Had the advance in freight rates gone into effect, the railroad employe, who had his wages advaced five per cent, would have had to pay an advance of from ten to sixteen per cent in freight rates on all he and his family consumes. He would have had to pay this advance at least three times—first, on the cost of transporting the raw material of products to the manufacturer. second, increased cost of transortation to the jobber, and third, from the jobber to the retailer. Thus, while the railroader gets one advance on what is coming in, he would pay three advances on what is going out.

This is what the Government is doing to protect the people from arbitrary advances in the cost of living. It is doing all that can be done to prevent excessive charges, and no party or set of Legislators can do differently under the present Constitution.

A Fair Field

Never were the merits of the uniform primary law better demonstrated than at this particular time. The campaign now in progress has demonstrated that slate making is utterly futile. While slates without number may be attempted, the fact remains that none of them are certain of success, and that one as well as another, stands an equal chance of being broken. With this condition always confronting them, politicians cannot induce voters to believe that certain slates are a dead sure winner for the reason that voters cannot be controlled, and consequently one candidate who hustles has approximately as good a chance as another.

In the contest for the Republican nominations for Assembly there is a fair field for any and all of the candidates, with chances of success for any one who puts forth the proper exertion. Each has his friends and following, and these will be a determining factor in the final outcome. No one candidate has sufficient following to elect him without the help of the unattached vote, and the one who can present his claims in the best light to this element is a winner. The field is open, and it is the qualifications and energy of the winners that will bring them under the wire.

Bad Weather.

The continued cool weather has had a serious effect upon trade as well as crops and farming. With the temperature hovering in the vicinity of the freezing point, people are not thinking of summer wearing apparel, much less making purchases. In some lines of merchandise this will no doubt make a short season, but others will be lengthened as a consequence. Those who wear out their winter clothes at the beginning of summer will have to purchase all the earlier in the fall, so that by the end of the year the evening up process will make amends for the omissions of the first of the season.

This is all the more reason for a well concentrated and persistent effort on the part of the business people here to make the most of their opportunities and take every advantage offered. A continued steady trade is much better than sporadic big days, with little or no business intervening. There is always an element of the purchasing public ready to buy at all times if approached in the right manner at the psychological moment. This is the condition that should be studied and gone after. The merchant who fights for trade in season and out of season and between pay days, is the one who wins.

VOTE FOR ANDERSON
For State Senate

What Sheriff Bruff Says in Commending to Your Attention the Services of Comrade Anderson.

Gentlemen and Comrades: We have invided your fair county tonight, not for the purpose of dictating to you whom you shall vote for, or state senator in this district, but to ask your respectful consideration of the claims and qulifications of our old friend and comrade of Phillippine fighting days when he in common with many others, fought, bled and swam for our country. Some of the boys didn't come back, some came back in their coffins and many returned to die from illness and disease contracted in the Philippine marches and jungles.

"I do not wish to make a spread-eagle speech, for should I attempt one would fail, but it is well to remember in time of peace, the services of those who have offered themselves as targets for the enemy's bullets in time of war.

"The voters have never failed to show their preference for a soldier over a politician. Take our presidents for example. After the Civil war we had Grant, Hayes, Garfield and Harrison. They were not politicians but they made good presidents. Their honor and integrity stands out today undisputed by any.

"Occasionally we find the soldier and politician combined in one. Take Roosevelt for example. He was a great soldier and who shall say that he is not the greatest politician of the age.

"The soldier boys ought to be able to beat the politicians at their own game. The first lesson they learn after "Hayot," "Strawfoot" is to act in unison. What would be the outcome of a battle if every soldier went in on his own book and fought according to his own notion of how things ought to be done. Inglorious and decisive defeat would be the portion of such a ridiculous army. Just so in the political game. Unity of action wins. Look at the Grand Army. To a man they stood back of Grant, Hayes Garfield and Harrison. Look at the case of Roosevelt. The politicians tried their best to sidetrack him and what was the result? He became the most powerful man politically that the country has ever known.

"With these examples before us and other lesser ones all around us let us get together and show the "organization" that politics is a game that they have no mortgage on.

"In Allegheny county a year ago I was a candidate for sheriff. The "organization" laughed at my humble claims and proceeded to plate old office holder who had served them well. What the soldier boys did to that outfit is a matter of history. They charged the selfish combine front and flank and sent them scooting for the tall timbers.

"They are back in the game again today but they are mighty careful to say nothing derogatory of the soldier because they have discovered that the people will not stand for it I wish gratefully to remember the services of the veterans in that glorious campaign of Civil war days. They showed that they still know how to rally around the flag with that same courage as in the old days when they charged into certain death at such places as Cold Harbor and Fredericksburg.

"In commending to your attention the services of Comrade Anderson, I am not unmindful of the fact that a state senator should possess ability and integrity as well as courage. Having known Comrade Anderson and having been familiar with his career in the Philippines and at home, I do not hesitate to say that he is an ideal man for the place. He is a man of progessive ideas, and will, if nominated and elected, serve his constituents as well at Harrisburg as he did for $15 66 a month in the the Philippines. Having been a soldier and faithful citizen, it seems to me, is sufficient guarantee that he will make a good senator.

"All the other surrounding counties which have been represented in the Philippines have accorded too the survivors political recognition. In Beaver county, four of the county offices, namely, Register, Recorder, Prothonotary and clerk of courts have been held by the members of the home company. In Greensburg, the two last district attorneys have been taken from the 10th Regiment and today, I have the honor to represent the old regiment as an official of Allegheny county. I see no reason why the two companies from Washington county with so many available and able men, should not be accorded political recognition as well as the other counties.
